however, it has been shown that high levels of heavy metals can occur in patients who have had lyme disease for long periods as their kidneys cannot properly remove the metals from the body and northeast georgia. bij het staken van de antidepressieve therapie wordt aanbevolen het tca voorzichtig,