a significant number of people have remarkable salt sensitivity which causes blood pressure spikes at the consumption of a high sodium meal for example